Boston, Aug. 30, 8 P. M. he confidently alleged, in perfect unconsciousness of his coming fate, was searched and placed in a new cell, in order to prevent any attempted suicide.

Dr. Putnam left him at nine o'clock, last night, and from that time till twelve o'clock he passed in devotional conversation with his watchers. At twelve he fell into a short doze, but did not sleep heavily, awaking at times and conversing. He spoke of his impending fate with fortitude and resignation, and seemed quite grateful that the time of his death had been kept from his family. At the various poises of the dawning of a new day, he seemed to be somewhat agitated, but soon recovered his composure. By advice, he breakfasted on tea, with bread, inviting the officers to partake with him and furnishing them with bread.

He made the preparations for ascending the scaffold with firmness. About three hundred persons were admitted to the jail yard, and the house-tops and the windows adjoining the jail were crowded with persons, among wom were many ladies. The streets near the jail were also crowded, but not densely.

At nine o'clock this morning the last religious ceremo-nies were commenced by Dr. Putnam, consisting of a fervent prayer. He invoked the prescient Spirit and grace of God for him who was so soon to die; and he prayed that the Professor's repentance might be acceptd, and that he might be prepared to meet death.

Jones was the officer who attended the Professor throughout the protracted scene, and he as well as

The high sheriff called the names on the list of witnesses to the execution. He stated that they had assembled to the execution. He stated that they had assembled by his invitation as lawful witnesses of the execution of

John W. Webster. He requested them to keep order during the solemn ceremonies, A company then formed in column of two and two and visited the prisoner's cell, where the Rev. Dr. Putnam offered up a prayer. The hall leading to the cell was full and stillness and solemnity prevailed. The witnesses then returned to the yard.

At twenty minutes before 10 o'clock High Sheriff Eveleth, attended by deputies, Coburn, Freeman, Rugg, and others, conducted Webster to the scaffold. The last duty of the sheriff was then performed.

Important from New Mexico. Maj.R. H. Weightman, U. S. Senator elect from New Mexico, arrived in town yesterday morning, en foute for Washington. Subjoined we give an important extract from Maj. W. It will be telegraphed to-day to the seat of government, and it clearly evidences the state of exasperation which a misunderstanding between the U. S. military force and the people of the territory has brought about has brought about.

To the President of the United States.

Siz.—The people of New Mexico have formed and ratified a Republican Constitution, elected under it Senators and a Representative, who are on their way to the Capital to seek for New Mexico's admission into the Besides the threatened invasion by Texas, which the President has taken steps to prevent, and the actual daily invasion of Indians, the rights of the people of New Mexico are now being invaded by the commander of the 9th Military Department.

He has declared his intention of resisting the operation of the Government, ratified by a vote of six thousand seven hundred and seventy-one to thirty-nine, with all the means at his disposal, and of maintaining the military supremacy which has heretofore obtained, al-though the same has never been made or approved by the Congress, and is utterly repugnant to the declared been authorities against people, resulted as such contests invariably will, when the people know their rights, and, knowing, dare maintain them, in the defeat of the suthorities, and must be considered a vote of want of afidence in the military commander's ministers.

Prof. Webster, after his family left him last night, as making returns) into the hands of the authorities, the army office holders, judges, prefectos, alcaldes, sheriffs, alquaziles, jailors, contractors, sutlers. governors, interpretors, &c., and the large vote of the employees of the quartermaster's department, were all in vain brought against the people. Yet, after a triumph over such influences, the arms of the United States are about being guard, and vamosed through the door, which was left ajar

I have deemed it my duty to avail myself of the earliest opportunity to inform you, sir, that the commander of the 9th military department, professing to act by by virtue of authority from the Executive, and disregarding the precedents of Oregon and California, is appropriating power which is conferred by the Constitution upon the Congress, the which, Congress not exercising, can only safely be trusted with the people.

It is supposed, however, the General has quit staging and gone to steam boating, or perhaps yawl boating. The Lake is hard by, and the land of rogues lies just beyond. The General is no doubt after that Mistress the Poet sings about:

TERMS OF TUITION.

AW SOHOOL OF THE INDIANA UNIVERSITY.—This Institution is under the care of Hox. David McDonald and Hox. William T. Otto. Its superior advantages to the student of the law are now generally known and admitted. To such as intend to practice in Indiana, it furnishes peculiar inducements; for they learn here not only the theory of law in general, but the practice of the State courts, and the Statutary modifications of the common law which obtain it: Indiana.

The course of instruction embraces all the branches of legal science. These are taught in daily lectures and recitations, and a weekly Moot court.

The text books of the Junior Class are Blackstone's Commentaries, Kent's Commentaries, Smith on Contracts, and Stephen on Pleading. Those of the Senior Class are Kent's Commentaries, Chitry's Pleading, Greenleaf on Evidence, and Mitford's Equity. Students must supply their own text books.

The Tuition Fee is thirty dollars in advance.

The next session will commence on the first Monday of November, and end on the first of March following.

Via Madison and Indianapolis Railroad, River Packets, Little Miami and Mad River Railroads, Lake Steamers, and Buffalo and New York Railroads. DONO STAGING WHATEVER. THE above named routes now run in connection with each other, run in connection with each other, and with the Stages North and West to and from Indianapolis. Passengers going East are subjected to no delay whatever. The Packet Line on the River makes its trips with perfect regularity—comfortable Boats being provided for low water. The regular line consists of two of the finest boats on the River. At Cincinnati passengers can take the morning line of cars, or remain during the day, and take the evening line, either of which connect with the Lake line of Steamers at Sandusky. For ease, comfort, and economy this is decidedly the most preferable Eastern route. During the close of Lake navigation, the time on this route, by the way of Pittsburgh, in spiendid Packets, is lengthened but a few hours, with only 72 miles of staging.

Cars leave Indianapolis and Madison at 7 o'clock, A. M., making the time over this Road in 5% hours. The cars and stock of the Road are not excelled on any road in the Union.

New and valuable machinery has been introduced on the Madison Plane, rendering the transition of passenger trains over it as safe as on any other portion of the road.
